CLARA PHILLIPS ESCAPES PRISON

GOOD START ON CHEST CAMPAIGN

Hammer Slayer Makes Getaway

Woman Sentenced to Serve
Ten Years for Killing Mrs.
Meadows, Flees County Prison.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Clara Phillips climbed out of a window in the woman's section of the county jail and escaped today. She was under a sentence of ten years for conviction of the James J. murder of Alberta Meadows. She was held in jail pending formulation of an appeal.

With the aid of several steel saws, her escape was effected at 2 a. m. according to a report to the sheriff by the jailor. Belief was expressed that she had been aided by other inmates. Bars were sawed through and after crawling out of the window she dropped to the roof of a nearby building and climbed down the fire escape and got away. The escape was not discovered by jail authorities for several hours. The matron on making rounds saw the bed Mrs. Phillips had vacated. The matron then discovered the sawed and twisted bars and notified the jailor. The former chorus girl, who three weeks ago was found guilty of the brutal murder effected her liberty with a studiedness equal to that of the hammer slaying last July. It is believed she escaped in an automobile.

Rickenbacker to Build
Motorless Air Flivvers

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—Upon his return from Europe, where he has been honeymooning two months, Eddie Rickenbacker, the great American ace, today announced that Detroit soon will have an airplane "fiver" factory. The new plant will enginew planes weighing approximately 100 pounds to sell for less than $150.

Mr. Rickenbacker says plans for the construction of the planes in large quantities are under way and that the gliders will be produced in the Rickenbacker automobile factory. The first planes will be turned out in the next 60 days.

Planes cannot be used for commercial purposes at present, because of the expense," he said, "but right now I can look ahead and see the airplane with planes produced by small and inexpensive means, with some of them carrying trailers just as some of them trucks doing on city streets."

Minor Cause.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
SAN DIEGO, Dec. 5.—Unsettled conditions in Asia Minor are said to be responsible for the decision of a San Francisco organization of capitalists to start planting a high grade of Turkish tobacco in this country where soil and climate is suitable. A syndicate has bought a 8,100-acre ranch for the project. The proposed establishment of a big factory in this city is also announced.

Radium Expert
Dying By Inches,
Loses All Limbs

PARIS, Dec. 4.—A man literally dying by inches has undergone his seventh operation in Paris. He is Dr. Jacques Vaillant, famous expert on radium. When gangrene set in successively in his left and right legs they had to be removed. Then his right arm was cut off and yesterday his remaining arm was amputated.

Dr. Vaillant consistently refused to abandon his radium researches which he will continue with the aid of four artificial limbs.

PERLIN, Dec. 4.—The prohibitory lists of Schoenberg, a Berlin suburb, having been presented by the police from holding an open air meeting yesterday, engaged a flock of sandwich men to parade the streets with placards denouncing the evils of alcohol.

The persons who organized the list of the saloon-keepers and distillery employees who pounced upon the sandwich men and gave them a severe beating. The police intervened and restored order, but only after the placards had been withdrawn from the streets.

Return From Big Toronto Meeting

A. D. Starling, president of the Danville Fair association, and H. B. Watkins, secretary, have returned from Toronto, Canada, where they spent last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday attending the annual meeting of the International Association of Fair Presidents and Secretaries.

Fair problems were discussed at the meeting and representatives of the large carnival companies were present to meet the assembled officials from 40 states of the American union and those from Canada. The meeting was held during the Winter Exposition at Toronto, this being a large enterprise house in the fair grounds representing an investment of ten million dollars.

Mr. Watkins said that the meeting was highly successful in that new ideas were gleaned in the conduct of agricultural fairs.

Object to Cemetery
as Trolley Terminus

NEW LONDON, Conn., Dec. 4.—The Connecticut Company's one-man trolley cars, having the local buried grounds as a terminal, have changed grounds as a terminal, from "Cemetery" to "Broad Street." The company's passengers rebelled against being transferred to a cemetery car, while strap-hangers complained that a standing posture was an improper manner in which to be conveyed to a burial place.

Henry Officers Continue Drive On Rum-Running

(Special to The Bee.)
MARTINSVILLE, Va., Dec. 5.—Further indications of the zeal of county officers in their effort to curb violations of the liquor laws were seen here today.

Last night county officers captured a Buick car near Arlington. It was found to contain 110 gallons of liquor. Marshall E. D. Daniels of Charlotte county was arrested and is in jail here. The car bore Virginia license number 4,737.

A few nights ago a young man giving the name of Wally Washington and his home as Danville was arrested in a Dodge car found to contain 290 gallons of liquor. He is at liberty on bond. The car bore Virginia license number 145,034 and the officers say this car was seized in a liquor raid only recently and the owner had given bond for its appearance at forfeiture proceedings.

Sheriff Henry Turner has returned from a fruitful raid to the Patrick Line. A few days ago he received an anonymous communication informing him that whisky was being distilled in large quantities on Bowen Creek. The sheriff with other officers set out immediately. In their operations they cut up three copper stills, each of 200 gallons capacity, poured out nearly 5,000 gallons of "beer" and 32 gallons of liquor. No arrests were made.

Gov. Morrison
Goes To New Bern

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 5.—Gov. Morrison left early today for New Bern, N. C., to make an inspection into the condition of 3,000 persons reported made homeless by last week's fire, prior to leaving he issued an appeal to the state for aid for the sufferers.

He asked that funds be sent to Mayor Edward Clark of New Bern. Prior to leaving he discussed the situation over the telephone with Adjutant General Metz, who was sent recently to New Bern and was told that conditions in the city are more acute than it was first thought. General Metz reported that relief for the sufferers is still inadequate and delivered an appeal from New Bernians to come to the aid of the suffering now, he said. The governor left at 4:30 a. m. and said he expected to return from New Bern at 6 p. m.

Pres. Harding Delays Speech

Ingram Held For Grand Jury On Forgery Charge

R. C. Ingram, charged with forgery, and whose case federal authorities have taken charge of, was this morning arraigned before Commissioner Champ Barksdale. Ingram pleaded guilty to the charge and no evidence was taken, the case being referred to the grand jury. A bond of $1,000 was set but early this afternoon the accused had not given bail.

Ingram was arrested for taking and by forging Jack Butler's signature, received the amount which was $25. The check was mailed by the government to Butler as an allowance for disability caused by injury while in service. Butler was not at home at the time and Ingram took the check and cashed it. Butler soon began to make inquiries as to why his check had not arrived and this resulted in Ingram's arrest.

All that was brought out at the hearing was a statement by Ingram saying that he had taken the money for the benefit of Butler's twin children. Butler, he said married his sister.

The case will come up at the March Term.

Two Kinds of Seals Found On Market

That small stamps resembling the National Anti-Tuberculosis Association's Red Seal, Christmas seals are being sold to children as a commercial proposition and on a "fifty-fifty" basis was the assertion made today by Dr. E. W. Garnett, city health officer who stated that several people have bought these seals believing in purchasing them they were promoting the campaign against tuberculosis. He said that on close inspection the seals are different from those which the organization fighting the white plague is putting out and that the seal is to be found on the Christmas seals. Dr. Garnett said that he had been unable to learn who was distributing them but that he had been told that several children had come into possession of them.

The sale of the seals is being continued in Danville and will be pushed more energetically as the Christmas season opens.

NEW BERN, N. C., Dec. 5.—W. A. Scott, deputy insurance commissioner, said today that there were no grounds for some of the accusations made against him.

Scott has been here since Saturday investigating the fire for the state insurance department said, "I have found that the fire started from a cigarette butt which had been in use for years.

We found at least six witnesses who saw it when it was burning under the roof. There is no evidence to incriminate him."

"As to the Reiper Mill fire a negro named Ernest Gibbs has been detained with setting fire to the mill but with being an escaped inmate from the insane asylum at Goliah.

"As far as I know," he said, "both fires were due to accidental origin."

Breaks Precedent in Failing to Appear Before Con- gress With His Message— May Be Delivered This Week.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—President Harding broke a precedent today by permitting the second day of the new session of Congress to pass without delivering his annual address reporting on the state of the union and outlining the administration's recommendations for legislation. It had been rendered at the drug store.

Prompt action by the druggist in neutralizing the effect of the ammonia probably prevented a far more serious outcome. The action of the ammonia was to draw down the palate of his mouth and was necessary on Tuesday night for making a speech.

It is charged that he expected to finish his message in time for delivery before the end of the week.

Officials added no formal explanation for the delay but indicated that pressure of public business had prevented compliance with the usual under which previous presidential messages have been placed on the agenda of the Congress on the first or second day of the session.

There is no provision of law requiring that the president report to Congress at the beginning of the annual short session, it was pointed out, the constitution stipulating merely that the "executive shall from time to time give to the Congress information on the state of the union." It is recommended to the consideration of the House as shall judge necessary and expedient.

The case will come up at the March Term.

Sees Menace Of War In U. S.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 5.—William Hiram Foulkes, New York, general secretary of the New Era movement of the Presbyterian church, speaking last night before the Laymen's conference, said "The next war is at hand and what it takes generations to write into our constitution, an alien rabble shall not destroy."

Referring to what he termed the next war, he said:

"It threatens to break down our constitutional government. The most alarming fight we face is the struggle between law respecting citizens and advances of law under the guise of personal liberty."

Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas, advocated the industrial court law of which he was sponsor. He criticized labor agitators and "paid strike leaders."

GOSPEL SERVICE FOR OFFICERS

$38,132 IS RAISED AT INITIAL MEET COMMUNITY CHEST

The Policemen of Danville gathered at Mayor Woodring's office Monday afternoon to hear an address by Evangelist Johnson and to enjoy the singing of Prof. Givett. Dr. John C. B. Newton, spoke on Responsibility, Co-operation and Fidelity. "He magnified the position of the policeman. 'I have traveled,' said he, 'from Canada to California and visited the great cities of the country and wherever I have seen the blue coat the shining buttons and the blazing star upon the breast of the police I have appreciated the noble work of those into whose hands the execution of the law rests.' He told the policemen that the eyes of the community were upon them, that many of mankind were looking to them for the protection of her sons and daughters. High tribute was paid them for their rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws."

Mayor Woodring, in a speech of appreciation, responded to the evangelist address. He declared that this was the first time in thirty years that a preacher had visited the Court House and spoken to the policemen in a body. Everything was at a high pitch as the Mayor, in fact, Prof. Givett sprang to his feet, thanked the Mayor, and began to sing, "In the Sweet Bye and Bye."

A vote of thanks was extended The Register by the evangelist and singer for the space and consideration given to them and their meeting at the Cabell St. Church.

PASSING SHOW WAS IMMENSELY POPULAR HERE

"The Passing Show," late of the Winter Garden in New York, passed very quickly for one of the largest theatre audiences which has witnessed a production in Danville in recent years. It was so exceptionally good in all of its phases whether serious or comic that previous musical comedies seen here appear drab and colorless in contrast. The general verdict of the audience last night was that it was not only one of the largest road productions presented by Frank Sohmer to the theatre going public here but one of the best. The Revue was best described, perhaps, as kaleidoscopic. It is a series of swift changes in costume, flashing wit provided by a handful of comedians, good singing and dancing of a type rarely equalled. The costumes—or some of them were as dashing as they were wonderful the entire production being a blaze of flashing color made possible without having seen the originals. In the particular instance "The Bat" triptych of the prologue was generally appreciated for many people saw that production when it came here. "The Charm School," "The Bad Man," "Lightning" were all included in the review with its rapid changing scenes, 26 in all. There was a show of splendor in "Mecca" with its brilliant oriental setting and its costumes. Enter acts were provided while the scene shifting was going on, there affording ample scope for the comedians and for the dancing couples who performed wonderful stunts at times.

There is no plot to "The Passing Show." It is as the name implies a brief vision of the big New York shows. It is as though one arrived one night in New York in the midst of the theatre season and dropped in here and there on the big successes on the Rialto for a brief interval. The levity of the production was the parody on these New York shows some of which was hard to appreciate without having seen the originals. In the particular instance "The Bat" triptych of the prologue was generally appreciated for many people saw that production when it came here. "The Charm School," "The Bad Man," "Lightning" were all included in the review with its rapid changing scenes, 26 in all. There was a show of splendor in "Mecca" with its brilliant oriental setting and its costumes. Enter acts were provided while the scene shifting was going on, there affording ample scope for the comedians and for the dancing couples who performed wonderful stunts at times.

One diversion in the second part of the programme was the informal imitation of some by-play which kept the audience in screams. Will Philbrick, one of the comedians who took so many different parts that it is hard to single out one that was better than the others, insisted on seeking his "little brown Derby" with a hole in it and with the querulous complaint that he had paid a bootlegger eleven dollars for a quart which he could not find. Others of the cast helped him in the task and in their efforts attention was drawn from the stage to the prologue. The comedian finally retrieved his hat while the height of a free fight on stage.

The comedian star of the evening was Sam Howar whose repartee and judicious behavior were constant and winning. The law touching this point is an old one, but has only recently been revived. Ten miles an hour is the speed limit at all cross-roads. Fines of from $5 to $10 were imposed in these cases.

Magistrate Collier issued a warning to intoxicated drivers of cars. He said that all found guilty of this charge in future would be given jail sentences in addition to fines.

MISS MILDRED STEPHENS WEDS ROBERT GREGORY

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Dec. 4.—Anderson Memorial Presbyterian Church has rarely presented a more charming appearance than Saturday night in its beautiful decorations as the scene of the wedding of Miss Mildred Elizabeth Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lenwood Stephens to James Robert Gregory, Jr., members of well known Martinsville families. The beautiful wedding service of the Presbyterian church combined with the Episcopal ring ceremony was used, the Rev. C. H. Phipps and Rev. W. E. Roach being the celebrants. Rarely has a larger congregation assembled for an event of this character.

The church decorations were charming in their harmony and beauty. Chrysanthemums, the glorious autumn flower, with a background of luxuriant palms, southern smilax and ferns being fashioned into a beautiful setting for the nuptial tableau. Amid the palms and ferns and providing a soft luminescence, focussed on the wedding party during the ceremony, were numerous cathedral candles, tall and stately.

The electricians, together with arches over each aisle, were twined with the graceful green training smilax, and ropes of the foliage were fastened to points of vantage. The space within the church was measured with the greediness with which the plain back-ground covered the pinnacle of the decorative design. The main aisle has been carpeted in white. Baskets of gorgeous chrysanthemums shown white against the green background to right and left of the bridal party as they stood gracefully grouped before the officiating clergymen. Artistic beauty and taste marked the decorative design in all the details of arrangement.

Preceding the wedding ceremony and while the guests were being seated, Mrs. Chas. Womack sang "Until Then." Mrs. Gordon Knapp played "Venetian Love Song," by Nevin. When the strains of the violin died and sunk into silence, Mrs. Womack sang "I Love Thee."

Miss Dorothy Clement, of Greensboro, N. C., played the Modello march for the advance of the bridal party, changing the melody to the joyous march from "Lohengrin," as the radiant young bride appeared and began to descend the aisle. During the ceremony the violinist with the piano accompaniment played softly "To a Wild Rose."

On reaching the altar the bride and her father were met by the bridegroom and his best man, Tom Clarke, of Stuart, Va., who had entered from the east door of the church.

The usher was Ernest Stephens, Jr., of Allentown, Pa. Paul J. Stephens of Richmond, Va., R. S. Brown and John A. Stephens, Claybrook, Lester of Stone Ky., and H. I. Tugge, Jr., served as groomsmen.

Misses Mary Herrington and Lucy Turner of Roanoke, Va., gowned in peach and yellow chiffon over peach taffeta with gold trimming carrying yellow pom pom chrysanthemums led the way to the altar, followed at an interval by Mrs. Ernest Lenwood Stephens, of Allentown, Pa., gowned in orchid chiffon with silver trimming, carrying shaded pink chrysanthemums.

Following came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Stephens, sister of the bride, gowned in an orchid chiffon over child taffeta with silver trimmings. She carried the shaded pink pom pom chrysanthemums.

The little flower girls, Misses Mary Jones Brown and Peggy Ann MacInnes, in white georgette over taffeta and carrying baskets of sweet peas and Kilarney roses, were followed by the little pages, Messrs. Reeves Brown, Jr., and Lenwood Stephens, dressed in Little Lord" suits opened the gates.

The music heralded the appearance of the bride, who entered on the arm of her father. Her wedding gown was of white chiffon over velvet embroidered in crystal beads and rhinestones with a court train of silk cloth. Her train flowed from a cornet of orange blossoms. The familiar and beautiful ceremony was soon concluded and the recessional in reverse order of the entrance.

The bride is one of the most popular and admired member of the younger set, and is generally esteemed for her social charm and amiability, while her fresh girl beauty and cordiality have made her a favorite. She was educated in music at Salem College, N. C., and Holling College, Virginia.

The bridegroom is a member of a well known Martinsville family, and is widely related here and in North Carolina. He is generally esteemed both in business and social circles.

After a trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory will make their residence on Starling Avenue.

Another son of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Stephens, Jr., and son of Allentown, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Firey and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Herringdon and daughters of Roanoke, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Townsend, Keyesville, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee, Mr. Gordon Tugge, Mrs. S. D. Rickman and daughter, Danville, Va.; Mrs. McKnight, Greensboro, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blackburn, Madison, N. C.; Mr. J. M. Jenkins, Lexington, Ky., and Mr. P. J. New Serum Found As Cure Of Fever

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A serum for combating the highly fatal malady, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, has been produced in the laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. Dr. Hideyo Noguchi has announced to the National Academy of Sciences.

"We have been able to produce a serum the strength of which is such that the injection of one-tenth of a cubic centimeter suffices to prevent or abort the disease in guinea pigs when the injection is made from one to four, and sometimes as long as six days after the inoculation of the virus," said Dr. Noguchi, who is already famous because of his isolation and cultivation of micro-organisms causing yellow fever, his development of preventive vaccine and curative serum for yellow fever, and other medical work.

"Since in human beings the fact of a bite by a wood tick is usually discovered several days before the onset of the fever and other symptoms of the fatal disease," he explains, "it is hoped that the injection of the serum in approximately the same proportion—15 centimeters for a man of 150 lbs. may succeed in averting or aborting and thus bring to a favorable issue the impending malady."

Rocky Mountain spotted fever, a highly fatal malady, is transmitted to human beings through the bite of a wood tick infesting woods and pastures in parts of Montana, Wyoming and Idaho, Dr. Noguchi explained. The disease reaches in certain places and at certain times a mortality of 70 to 80 per cent. Farmers, herdsmen, lumbermen and sportsmen are thus especially attacked.

The micro-organism responsible for the disease goes by the name of the virus of Rocky Mountain spotted fever and is believed to belong to the class of parasites called Rickettsia, which includes also the virus inciting typhus fever, another insect-born (lice) disease of man.

Charges Of Fraud Basis Of Suits

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 4.—Charges of fraud, gross waste of materials and abuse of confidence reposed by the government during a time of national emergency, is the basis of the government suit against the Rinchart and Dennis Company Inc., for a total of $7,400,000, which was filed in the United States District Court here late this afternoon.

The bill alleges that the defendants, contractors who did the major portion of the work on Camp Lee, near Petersburg, Va., failed to comply with the spirit and tenor of the contract, and, taking advantage of the government's inability to exercise the usual care and caution in looking after its contracts for cantonment work, built the cantonment at an excess cost to the government. Among other things, the bill of complaint, prepared under the direction of the Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, and filed here by the United States District Attorney, Paul Koenig, alleges the company made various misrepresentations in order to secure the contract for Camp Lee. It charges that the company did "not" make the contract in good faith, that they had no experience in such work, that they caused the letting of various contracts to other parties at heavy expense to the government, that they caused much useless unnecessary work to be done at the camp, that they permitted sabotage and employed unskilled labor in the construction of the cantonment at the same scale that skilled labor was to be paid under the contract.

The bill seeks the recovery of $7,400,000 with interest from November 1, 1917. A photographic copy of the contract is filed as an exhibit to the bill. The Rinchart and Dennis Company Inc., is a Charlestown, Va., concern.

Chinese Bandits Seize Tsing-Tao

Fortress Which Under Treaty Terms Was to Have Been Returned to China in Hands of Outlaws.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

TIENT TSIN, China, Dec. 5.—Reporters received here say that bandits have taken control of Tsing-Tao, the Kiaochow port, whose stormy career in war and diplomacy was to culminate today in its return to China after 24 years of alien rule, the first sixteen under Germany, the rest under Japan. The population is reported to be fleeing from the city. Chinese porters sent from Peking to take over the city are said to have been driven away. The bandits are reported to have demanded $100,000 ransom for the delivery of government officials and police in their hands. The outlaws also are holding out for the appointment of their chief as governor. Shops and residences are being looted.

The bill alleges that the defendants, contractors who did the major portion of the work on Camp Lee, near Petersburg, Va., failed to comply with the spirit and tenor of the contract, and, taking advantage of the government's inability to exercise the usual care and caution in looking after its contracts for cantonment work, built the cantonment at an excess cost to the government. Good Morning Judge!

To invite a police officer to join in a card game was what Will Blanchard did late yesterday afternoon, but of course he didn't know at the time it was bluecoated.

The scene was inside a little log cabin situated in the body of woods behind Hilltop sanatorium. On information that there was a game in progress, Sergeant J. H. Martin and Patrolman T. E. Bowles and Harvey Dameron, had gone there to make a raid. It was about dusk.

On nearing the house the officers heard loud talking and a bit of profanity. It was a two-story shanty and the game was proceeding on the upper floor. The officers cautiously entered the front door. Sergeant Martin was leading, Bowles second, both wearing civilian clothes, and Dameron in uniform, last. In the corner was a flight of steep steps, in fact they resembled a steep ladder. A man, whom it was later learned was Blanchard, started down the steps and met Sergeant Martin, whom he failed to recognize as an officer. He grabbed the officer by the hand, evidently mistaking him for a guest, and in a tuneful manner said: "Everything's pretty—come on up."

Without a word in reply, Martin pulled the man down and was upstairs in quick order. Blanchard still thought nothing of the incident and casually walked towards the door. He had seen the dim figure of the other two officers but also took them to be guests. As he neared the door he caught sight of Dameron's badge and exclaimed "My God, Police Officers!" Developments then came fast and Blanchard together with W. C. Vaughn, Horace Hart, R. B. King and Melvin Johnson were placed under arrest. The officers arrived upstairs just in time to see the men grabbing the cards and money from the table.

A great deal of complaint about the little cabin had been made to the police recently and it was on further complaint yesterday that the raid was made. This resulted in a fine of $20 and costs being imposed on Blanchard this morning for maintaining an ill-governed house. The other cases were called but Vaughn, Hart and King requested that they be allowed to go before Magistrate R. S. Fitts at Schoolfield for a hearing. The request was granted and bond of $25 each was set. Johnson preferred his case being disposed of this morning and he was fined $5 and costs for gambling, while the others were taken to jail in default of bond.

They will be tried tomorrow morning by Magistrate Fitts.

A charge of violating the Mapp Act against Oscar McMaster will be heard next Tuesday, the case having been set for that date. McMaster was caught with a gallon of whisky yesterday afternoon by Police Officer O. W. Bates. The officer had received a bit of information which took him to a point alongside the Dan river. He had not waited long before a row boat, containing three men, put in its appearance. When the boat reached the bank, McMaster got out with a large package, which soon proved to be whisky. The other two men disappeared down the stream in the boat. McMaster was arrested and placed under a bond of $50.

FRENCH OFFICERS TO VISIT U. S.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—(By The Associated Press)—The proposal for amnesia of five French officers to America for which the Chamber of Deputies yesterday appropriated $300,000 francs was in response to invitations from Washington, it was said, at the War office today.

The United States government has repeatedly requested France to send such a mission, composed of technicians to exchange views with American officers in similar departments.

The mission would be appointed only after the Senate had passed the appropriation. The officers probably will leave early in the new year.

Stomach Distress

All Druggists Has the Remedy and Guarantees it to End Indigestion or Gastritis.

You can get one bottle of Dare's Menha-Pepsi and if after you take it you do not say it did you more good than anything you ever used before, your money will be refunded.

This delightful and effective syrup not only gives instant relief from gas, flatulence, acid stomach and distress after eating, but taken regularly for a short time will turn your weak, run-down stomach into a strong, healthy one able to perform its duties without help.

It ends indigestion, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach and does it in a surprisingly short period of time.

Dr. Wm. W. Morgan, a prominent dentist of Bridgeton, N. J., writes: "After suffering severely with gastritis and other stomach troubles, a friend gave me a bottle of Dare's Menha-Pepsi. I had obtained little relief from other remedies, but four bottles entirely ended the trouble." You can get a large bottle for $1.00 at all regular druggists everywhere.—adv.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2. and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Take a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex, then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy cures cough—usually in a few hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid repetition, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with directions and do not accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Woman of 86 Goes About Housework After Paw Paw Builds Up Her System

How Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic brought wonderful results to an aged Mother is told in a letter recently written by her son, Isaac C. King, of 1820 Jersey Street, Quincy, Illinois. Mr. King says:

"As regards the Paw Paw Tonic, I would like to state that Mother is the one I procured it for. She is 86 years old, had pneumonia, and after her recovery took this tonic, which built her up.

"She is now able to go about the house and do mending and light work. Am sure your tonic brought wonderful results."

"I took the Marrowbone Tablets and they have done much good for me. We have used Munyon's remedies for years and consider them excellent medicines, as they always bring good results."

Another letter of praise for Paw Paw Tonic comes from J. W. Heath, of Prosper, Texas. He writes:

One Dime Pays a Month's Rent

Here is one of the five houses near May's Landing, N. J., which are rented for ten cents a month—the record low rate in the United States. Here's the explanation: since "time immemorial" the families have occupied these houses and no rent was charged by the owner. Now a corporation has bought the land and to protect its title decided to charge a nominal rent.

Opinions Differ Among Countries As To Discussion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(By The Associated Press)—Divergent opinions between Central American countries as to desirability of discussing here the question of a political union of all five nations came to the surface today immediately on the opening of the six-power conference on Central American affairs called by invitations of President Harding.

The subject was not on the agenda as outlined in the American invitation, it was brought up spontaneously by the arrival of Dr. Alberto Urdan, Chief of the Honduras delegation, in replying to Secretary Hughes' address of welcome. Under clause four of the invitation, Dr. Urdan said any subject could be presented and he urged that the matter of a federation of Central American states "should receive first consideration" by the conference.

In opposition to this view, Senor Jose Andrade Coranado, Costa Rican foreign minister, pointed out that the central American governments in accepting the invitation to Washington had been "fully cognizant of the fact that the historic hour of their political union has not yet struck."

For the Nicaraguan group, however, Senor Emiliano Chamorro, minister from his government to Washington, in his address to the conference said the gathering further testified to "the unity of our aspiration for unity" and would tend to overcome obstacles and "some day" result in the hoisting of the "sacred banner of one undivided Central America."

Both Secretary Hughes, speaking both as presiding officer and as head of the American delegation, nor Minister Francisco Latour for Guatemala nor Francisco Suarez head of the Salvadoran group, referred to the Central American union question in any way in their formal addresses at the opening session.

Action of the conference must of necessity be unanimous in points which not specifically mentioned in the invitation may be taken up under clause four.

Aside from the injection of the union controversy, the opening session of the conference was devoted wholly to the exchange of friendly assurances in which Secretary Hughes led the way. He told the conferees in flat terms that the United States had no ambition to gratify at your expense, no policy which runs counter to your national aspirations, and no purpose save to promote the interests of peace and to assist you, in such manner as you may welcome, to so solve your problems to your own greater advantage."

Mr. Hughes' statement was construed as an assurance that in accepting the invitation of the five powers to join their deliberations in a formal way, the Washington government was prompted only by a desire to do everything in its power to bring the conference to a successful issue. "The interest of the United States," he said, "is found in the peace of this hemisphere and the conservation of your interests."

Addresses of all other delegation heads were characterized by pledges of cooperation and good will to the direct purposes of the conference.

The proceedings of the conferences were brief. Jordan H. Stabler, former chief of the Latin American Division, State Department, was elected secretary-general, and the conference resolved itself into a committee of the whole which will hold its first business session tomorrow. Secretary Hughes

NEW TYPE OF MAN IS GREAT NEED

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—A new type of industrial leadership, coming from men and women whose minds are trained in the engineering or business world, is needed to save civilization. Dean Dexter S. Kimball of Cornell University, retiring president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, declared that the 43rd annual convention of the association tonight "Unless we can in some manner change our industrial system so that we can more nearly attain universal well-being and distribute the fruits of our industry more equitably," he added, "we have no reason for believing our civilization can endure."

Dean Kimball said the engineer has become a powerful factor in modern industry and is destined to attain much higher sphere. He declared he believed civilization of the future will be what the engineers wish to be.

Progress in the management of industry, commercial, dying, ordnance, manufacturing, education and research will be discussed during the remainder of the work. It was announced that the five division will meet Wednesday to discuss coal saving in private homes.

HOUGHTON MAKES VISIT TO PARIS

PARIS, Dec. 4.—(By The Associated Press)—The visit here of Houghton's American Ambassador to Germany has aroused considerable interest in French and American relations.

Although he denies there is any reference to his trip it is asserted in some quarters that his conversations with Ambassador Herrick and Roland Bonar, American observer with the Parisian commission may prove a major ground upon which the French and Germans can agree in regard to the reparations question.

It is known that Mr. Houghton has been strongly impressed by the industrial progress of Germany and the decorations of its government buildings, but he also has been much struck by the same social and moral ills which afflict the French, as evidenced by midsummer's French strike for a long vacation, during which the march has been stabilized.

It is recommended highly by thousands for Indigestion, Despondency, Biliousness, Heartburn, Insomia, Nervousness, Weak Blood, Stomach Gases, Heavy Headaches, Distress After Eating, Bloated Feeling, Sour Stomach, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver troubles.

Try a bottle of Paw Paw Tonic now. Do not delay any longer. It costs only $1. a bottle. You can get Paw Paw at any good drug store.

Clemenceau Now In Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(By The Associated Press)—Georges Clemenceau today brought his campaign for France to the capital. Arriving at dusk, he was escorted immediately to the home of Henry White, former ambassador to France and member of the American commission at the Versailles peace conference, to rest in preparation for his four-day visit, which will begin officially tomorrow with calls on President Harding and former President Wilson.

The Tiger was greeted at the station by Mr. White, who is his host here; Jules J. Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States, and Robert W. Biles, third assistant secretary of State, who represented the Department informally. Mrs. Jusserand accompanied her husband, and it was to her that Clemenceau addressed much of his attentions as he walked up the long train platform toward the presidential room.

Probably two thousand persons had clustered into the station for a glimpse of the famous war figure who was among the few such who had not visited Washington either during the world war or afterward.

A flurry of applause greeted him as he walked slowly through the concourse and in acknowledgement he doffed his gray felt hat and bowed.

Passing through the presidential car, he entered Mr. White's room and was given swiftly out to Mr. White's home. There, while he chatted with Mr. and Mrs. White and Ambassador and Mrs. Jusserand, his secretary went forth in quest of a butler to whom he could communicate Clemenceau's desire for soup, Gruyere cheese and boiled eggs. He returned shortly after eight.

The Tiger plans to pay his respects at the White House tomorrow at ten o'clock. He will be presented to the President by Ambassador Jusserand. From the White House he expects to drive to the home of Woodrow Wilson. Then he will return to the White house for luncheon, where he will meet Secretary Hughes and Mellon.

These are the only definitely scheduled events at this time, however, that he will go to Mr. Vernon in the afternoon. He has spoken frequently of his eagerness to visit Washington's tomb and will seize the first opportunity to do so.

APPOMATTOX OFF WITH TOBACCO FOR LIVERPOOL

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 4.—Loaded with over 2,500 tons of general cargo, mostly tobacco, taken at Norfolk, and about 80,000 bushels of grain loaded at Philadelphia before calling here, the British steamer Appomattox of the Johnson Line, Virginia service, sailed late yesterday afternoon for Liverpool, England, a new and modern vessel in every particular has many features in connection with its rather short life and each might be told in a separate story, so much importance could be attached to each.

First, the Appomattox sailed from Norfolk on October 17, 1922, on its second voyage. It had on that trip loaded at Baltimore and afterward came to Norfolk to compete her cargo before leaving here direct for Liverpool. On October 30, it arrived at the English port, making excellent time. The cargo was discharged and the vessel shifted over to Barry and then, after loading 4,500 tons of pig iron, again sailed for Philadelphia. It arrived in Philadelphia, discharged the cargo, loaded about 500 tons of general merchandise and then came on to Norfolk, arriving on the 31st. That round trip, with forty-three days, that record makes the master, Captain E. Healy, a proud man, but at that he is no prouder of the ship and his company than the company is of him.

The Appomattox came to Norfolk from Philadelphia. At the Pennsylvania port it loaded grain and then went to New York, arriving on November 12, having made the weight, which would just as easily have been loaded here, but

Her father, John Pyle, was a former attorney general of South Dakota, holding that office between 1859 and 1902.

JONES DID NOT VIOLATE WRIT

(Special from Tobacco Growers News Bureau)

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 4.—In a far-reaching decision at Nashville, N. C., today Judge Frank Daniels made it clear that parents are responsible for the disposal of the tobacco of their minor children. He held that the defendant, W. T. Jones, had technically violated his contract and the restraining order preventing him from delivering his tobacco outside the association when he permitted his minor son to sell on the auction floor.

The weight of evidence tending to show that the defendant has not deliberately or intentionally committed contempt of court resulted in the omission of penalties other than a severe rebuke to Jones.

The court house at Nashville was again filled to overflowing in spite of heavy rains throughout the day and the interest of close to thousands of farmers was intense as Judge Daniels concluded the case by saying to the defendant, "don't sell any tobacco forbidden by this injunction. If you do, I will feel sorry for you, but certainly will happen. I can't find any intention of violating the injunction though you talk too much."

The chief value of today's case to the tobacco growers' co-operative association was in the establishment of the fact that not even the oil custom of giving a deserving minor son an acre or small patch of tobacco to cultivate and sell as his own can be permitted, that the parent who has signed the contract of the tobacco co-operative from the necessity of handling the tobacco of his children just as he handles his own, namely, through the association.

W. B. Bassett, Frank Spruill and J. B. Ramsey, of Mount Airy, attorneys for the defendant, brought out by numerous affidavits and witnesses, the fact that Jones had been guilty of this offense.

Emphasizing evidence to show that the defendant had made statements that he was selling tobacco as he had always sold, Lawrence Lewis, among the counsel for the association, pled that Jones earned money as a minor son in the custody and control of the father and that the title is in the father, according to the law of North Carolina, stating, "We are merely looking for that which is indicated from this court so that the growth of this state may not be hampered in any way by the sale of tobacco."

The court ruled that the defendant was guilty of an injunction violation and that he was to pay a fine of $100.

Similar developments are in progress in many other sections of the country in many different lines. The big steel companies are not a whit behind in following the trend. They are preparing to cut costs of manufacture, sale and transportation. This tendency is fully as marked in the intermountain and Pacific states as in the country east of the Mississippi.

The first real touch of winter has stiffened coal prices and quickened movements. Production both of bituminous and anthracite continues at a high rate. New foreign markets are in excellent position. Zinc has advanced, copper is strong, despite increased production at the mines, and lead is in splendid demand from paint makers, plumbing supply manufacturers and battery builders.

Demand for shoes is much more active and the buying done recently for spring delivery has been of unusual volume. Oil production continues to resist all efforts toward

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Demands that a revival showing of "The Birth of a Nation" be prohibited in this State as a "glorification of the Ku Klux Klan" and part of a local drive by the Rev. Oscar Haywood to increase the membership of the Klan, were made yesterday at a hearing of the State of New York by Walter F. White, Assistant Executive Secretary of the National Society for the Advancement of Colored People. Henry W. Shields, Senator-elect from the Twenty-first District, and Alderman George W. Harris, Mr. Shields and Alderman Harris said they did not represent any organization, but as public officials were acting in the interests of the Negroes of the city.

Jack Wark Griffith, director of "The Birth of a Nation" and the Rev. Thomas Dixon, author of "The Clansman," from which the story of the photoplay in part was taken appeared before the commission in defense of the picture. A heated argument lasting over four hours, took place in the office of the commission at 226 West Forty-second street, in which the motion picture men denied any connection with the Ku Klux Klan and insisted the revival of the picture was justified as "a work of art" and "historical document." They added that the picture had been exhibited in every theater in the country and had been passed by all the State Censorship Boards with the exception of Kansas, and had only been prohibited by the local authorities in the instance of Lancaster, Pa., the birthplace of Thaddeus Stevens.

"We demand the revocation of the permit on two grounds," said Walter F. White, "first, that it is a glorification of the Ku Klux Klan coming at a time when the Rev. Haywood has announced that a drive is to be made for increased membership in the Klan, and we believe that it has been brought here for that purpose." In the second place, it is the revival of race prejudice sentiment which has followed the picture wherever shown and has caused riots in many instances."

CHURCHES SOLD FROM THE BLOCK

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 4.—When seventy-five pieces of property were sold here today at public auction for street assessments, the city of Charlotte acquired two churches which were included in the lot. The Westminster Presbyterian Church at the Dilworth Methodist Church were those which went over the block. Rev. W. B. West of the Methodist Edinboro, his church, would be sold immediately. The Presbyterian church was said to have been sold by a trustee as the money to pay the street assessments were collected some time ago.

COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agent for the treatment of chronic colds and colds and other forms of throat and lung trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood and attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

PHOTOS TEST
EINSTEIN LAW

BY GENE COHN.
(Special to The Bee.)

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 5.—From the photographic darkroom of the Lick Observatory here will come within a few months science's verdict on the Einstein theory.

Two dozen extraordinary photographic plates contain the evidence. They are now being carefully studied, measured and compared by a little group of scientists. They were taken by Dr. J. H. Moore for the Crocker American expedition to the antipodes, which was headed by Prof. W. W. Campbell of the Lick Observatory.

The scientific world had known that on Sept. 21, a total solar eclipse would give the first chance to put to test the much disputed Einstein claims. Einstein had stated that on such an occasion, certain stars in the group about the sun would seem to be displaced to a certain measure. He had announced the amount of this displacement. Only with the sun blinded in eclipse could proper photographs be made.

"Four powerful Einstein cameras, specially designed and constructed for this occasion, were used in getting the photographs," explained Prof. Campbell. "Twelve plates were exposed during the total eclipse to record faint stars around the sun. One plate shows 82 stars.

"Last May and June the same number of plates were exposed with the same instruments from the island of Tahiti.

"It is in a comparison of these two star groups, one taken with the sun and one taken without the sun, that the proof lies. This should show whether the sun's influence displaced the star images of Sept. 21 in the manner and to the extent specified by Einstein.

"Several months must elapse before we can measure and calculate the distance involved."

Woman Throws Rolled Leaflet
Into Face Of Amnesty Picketer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—One woman, without saying a word, today showed her attitude toward those who are picketing the White House in an effort to get President Harding to extend amnesty to men serving prison sentences for violating the Espionage act.

A well-dressed woman took one of the leaflets proffered by one of the picketers. She rolled it into a ball and silently threw it into the face of the woman who had given it to her. Neither said a word, the thrower of the leaflet turning and, with nose tilted in air, rejoining the passing throng.

The picketers, including two from Baltimore, were garbed as Puritans when they took up their positions in front of the Executive Mansion this morning.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Cable dispatches received yesterday by the agents of the White Star Line from Captain Sir Bertram Hayes, D. S. This is the fastest voyage ever made between the two ports, and it is one hour and fifty-six minutes faster than the record run of the Cunarder Mauretania on July 24 in five days eight hours and nine minutes. The captain added in his message that the voyage had been made without driving.

RECORD SEEKS NO
THIRD PARTY

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 4.—In my judgment it is not feasible at the present time to put in the field a new political party with any hope of success or of effecting any considerable following.

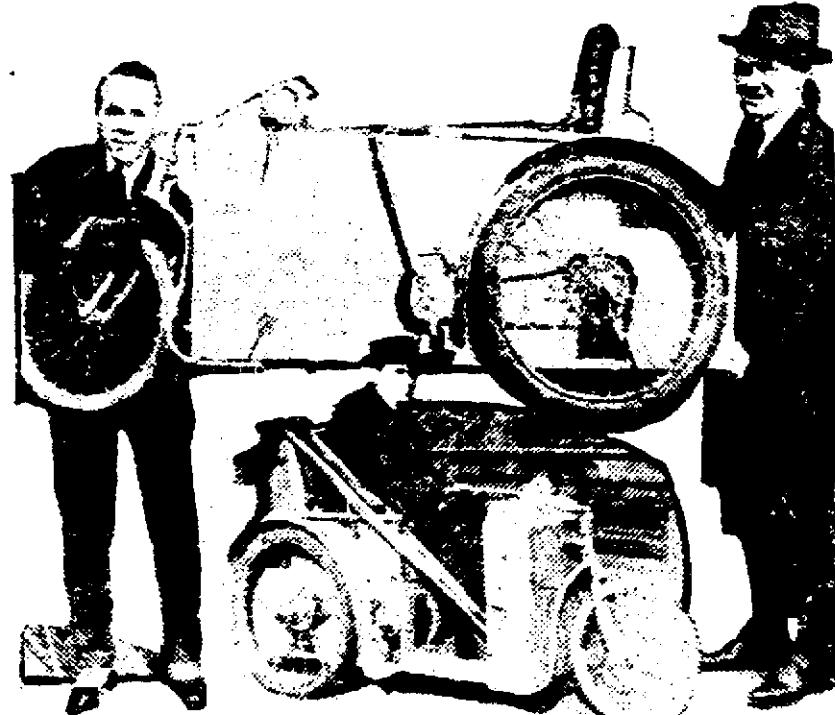

The reason for this lies in the confused condition of the public mind. There is widespread discontent throughout the country, but there is no consensus of opinion anywhere as to what is the trouble or as to the best and most practical method of improving conditions.

Various remedies are put forward by different groups of people. But their representatives of these groups gather in conference when they are unable to agree upon any one or two paramount issues or measures.

It is impossible to educate the public upon any large number of issues at any one time. Advocates of each measure have no interest in any part of the platform except in their pet measure. The program as a whole therefore is not pushed by anybody and the energies of all hands are thus scattered and diffused, and the result is a political deadlock.

Until there shall arise out of this welter of confused remedies one or

Furs For Fun!

Furs for women are always in season. But, the Fall and Winterfrocks are the logical time to wear them according to the men. This year furs are taking on such brilliant hues that the animals themselves could not recognize their own pelts. In the movies last night we saw all the animal folk entering Noah's ark in "The Big Flood," one of "Aesop's Fable" films, and we couldn't help thinking of the fright some of them would get if they should pass Milady herself on the Avenue all dolled up in her bright colored furs. It seems that every girl has a longing for furs—a coat, wrap, or scarf. Many a husband dislikes women's furs because they cost him so much, and he doesn't wear them. There is a lot of fun in fur. When "Topics of the Day" films screens a fur joke it always receives warm laughter. Here are some late model fur fancies:

THE VOID OF HELPLESS LOVE

By ZOE BECKLEY

You've A Friend? Do You Wish to Keep Him?

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—"If you're a friend and want to keep him—

Never loan him money."

"Never, though repeatedly urged, tell him candidly what you think of his character, his children or his private stock."

"Never take his advice as to your investments."

Thus Miss Eleanor Kerr, financial statistician for a Wall Street municipal bond house.

IT'S VERY EASY.

"If you are a widow," she says, "with your husband's insurance in a lump sum, or if your great aunt left you a legacy, it's the easiest thing to lend cash to a friend who knows an investment paying up to 22 1/2 per cent."

"But don't listen. Hie you to a dependable bank and consult its financial adviser. What he'll probably suggest will be an investment paying closer to five per cent. But you will not awake some morning to find principal and interest vanished into thin air."

Home-staying women are not alone unwise in their investments; business women are just as indiscreet, Miss Kerr adds.

To the woman who depends on inherited money for support, Miss Kerr recommends bonds of the class legal for savings banks.

To the business woman she suggests the safe investment of a certain sum and speculation, if desired, with what's left.

"But not matter what the circumstances," she concludes, "a woman will always be safe in consulting her bank before investing."

MANN FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Funeral services for Congressman James R. Mann, who died in Washington Thursday after a brief illness, were held here today with representatives of the Navy, Senate, House and many other notables in attendance.

At Mrs. Mann's request the services were both simple and brief. The Rev. Ralph W. WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—By a vote of 79 to 1 the House to day concurred in a Senate bill authorizing the retirement of Associate Justice Mahlon Pitney of the Supreme Court, because of physical disability.

Representative Blanton, Democrat of Texas, who cast the lone dissenting vote, said he objected to the precedent.

Justice Pitney who has served ten years on the Supreme Bench, would not be eligible for retirement under existing law until he reached the age of 70, six years hence.

"OH, JACK—what?" Myra touched

Ed Barrett's arm, stricken at the appalled look in his face. He handed her the message. Alice gone—his daughter gone! Myra could say nothing.

Barrett jumped to his feet.

"Where's the wireless room?"

"Up for-ard, sir," said the steward.

Even his blank face aight with interest.

"If you've any message, I'll take it."

"Yes, I—" Barrett suddenly realized there was nothing he could do save something he could not.

"Appalled and brokenhearted." It will come out all right.

"Coming at once." Furtive words, crowding into his benumbed brain, mocking him, torturing him with his helplessness.

He had leaped to his feet, electric with resolve. Now he had to take the ironic laughter of some invisible friend.

Myra had risen, too, deeply troubled.

"What can it mean, Jack?"

"I don't know. She looked ready for anything. My boy said she had even threatened—but I didn't realize—she could think she's only sixteen when she addresses her mother. I can't believe anything terrible has happened."

The color abhed from Myra's face. She did not dare voice the fear she felt, nor the sympathy she felt for the girl whose fate was still before them.

Starting pre-occupied along the deck, she saw coming toward them one of the ship's officers guided by the steward who had brought the wireless message.

"Mr. Barrett?"

"Yes." Barrett was braced for worse news to come.

"A young lady has—ah—just been found on board without a ticket. A stowaway, in fact, sir. Seems she's been on board since last night. She's five or six years old."

"She's got a mother, sir?"

"No, sir. She's a waif."

"She'll probably get another man."

"Keep your course," said Myra.

MY FATHER HANDED THE PAPER TO LEWIS, WHO UNFOLDED AND READ IT ALOUD.

The man would have refused, with some rejoinder, but my father was looking at him, and he could not find the courage to resist my father's will.

He got up and went out, and presently returned followed by the lad and Gækki. The old country doctor sat down by the door, his leather case of bottles by the chair, his cloak still fastened under his chin. Gosford went back to the table and sat down with his writing materials to keep notes. The boy stood by him.

He paused, his eyes on the lad, his voice deep and gentle.

"Where is the will?" he said.

The white in the boy's face changed to scarlet. He looked a moment about him in a sort of terror; then he lifted his head and put back his shoulders. He crossed the room to a bookcase, took down a volume

NOT CONSIDERED SLAP AT LANDIS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—John A. Heyder, president of the National League, declared in a statement today that he did not construe either as a "slap at Commissioner Landis" or as a sign of strained relations between the two "or because" the action of Bain Johnson, president of the American League, in changing the seat of the latter organization's meeting place from New York to Chicago and thus preventing a scheduled joint session between the two bodies here. The National Leaguers' annual meeting will be held in New York, Tuesday December 12, while that of the American League as a result of President Johnston's decision, will be held in Chicago, December 13, the date on which it was to have been held here. The joint conference, originally slated for the following, thus has been automatically cancelled.

"It is now too late to change our league meeting from New York," President Heyder said "but I see no reason why a joint conference cannot take place later at some convenient point."

Deputy Is Given Chance To Bring Forward Proof

PARIS, Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The French Boxing Federation decided to allow Deputy Diagne, fifteen days in which to "furnish proof of his accusations" that the Siki-Carpentier match had been framed for Carpenter to win, failing which the federation will demand that the Chamber of Deputies life the parliamentary immunity of the deputy in order that the federation may institute whatever legal proceedings which it sees fit to obtain redress.

After a three hours session this afternoon the federation issued a communication saying it considers its honor has been injured by "the calumnious imputations of the deputy in the result off the said match."

The communication renews the statement that the federations' decision against Siki was taken "from motives of public decency and to prevent a scandal." It adds that the federation is not aware "of any irregularities from the sporting point of view on the part of the organizers of the Carpenter-Siki match and has no knowledge of any in sincerity in the result off the said match."

The federation decided to send copies of the documents discussed at its meeting and also a copy of the decision reached to the president of the Senate and of the Chamber of Deputies in protest against the public accusations made in the open chamber by Deputy Diagne.

According to the story Siki told today in the presence of Diagne and of which the deputy said he had proof to go into court in behalf of the Sene-galese, he had, fifteen days before the fight, agreed to "lay down" in fourth round. However after he got into the ring he had a change of heart and decided to win the fight.

"I was supposed to take a short count in the first round then go to the floor again in the second, followed by a nine second count just before the bell in the third, come up groggy for the fourth round, then drop with both arms outstretched and be counted out," the negro declared.

"I entered the ring in a bewildered condition," continued Siki, "and began to do as I agreed, dropping to one knee in the first round after two minutes of fighting. Bernstein the referee thought me up sharply, says 'get up, Siki, you're not hurt.' I was in a trance throughout the second round discussing within myself whether I should lie down or fight. George wasn't quite hurting me, although he reached me with two hard rights to the jaw which caused the ring-side spectators to grunt much harder than I."

I had fully decided that I would take.

"At the beginning of the third round another count as agreed" Siki went on, "but the round had progressed two minutes before George hit me hard enough to give me a chance to go down. A right swing then hit me high on the cheek and I said 'here goes.' I dropped to one knee until I was able to stay there. The howls of the multitude reached my head, which seemed to clean 'oh he's beaten, the negro is finished' were the jeers that assailed me."

"Then during these seven seconds that I was kneeling before Carpenter I made up my mind to fight. I knew I could win. You remember how I jumped and swung my fist which caught Georges flush on the point of the jaw."

AMERICAN ASS'N HOLDS MEETING

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—With the re-election of President Thos. J. Hickey for a five-year period, the American Association Club Owners held their annual meeting, yesterday preliminary to the opening tomorrow of the convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball League, which probably will attract more than 500 major and minor league officials.

President Hickey was re-elected without a dissenting vote, and John W. Norton, president of the St. Paul Club was unanimously re-elected vice-president.

After the election, the club owners voted to raise the league wages from $2,000 to $3,000 with the privilege of recall withdrawn and also decided to buy the umpire's uniforms in the future.

Commissioner Landis arrived late tonight to address the minor leagues. He is expected to direct his remarks to the leagues which refused to subscribe to the draft. Commissioner Landis declined to make any comment when informed that President Johnson of the American League had declined to accept the Commissioner's plan for a joint session of the major leagues in New York, December 12. President Johnson has called a meeting of the American League for Chicago, December 13.

KUHN ELECTED CAPTAIN

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 4.—Oliver Kuhn, Vanderbilt quarterback, was tonight elected captain of the "Commandos" for 1923 at the annual football banquet. It was announced that Vanderbilt had received invitations to accept dates both on the Princeton and Yale schedules next fall. Sixteen letters were awarded to members of the football squad.

This Picture Caused Trouble

When college professors saw this picture of Miss Julia Boone, the star sprinter who adopted men's running trunks to increase her speed on the cinder paths, there was a gasping for breath in the University of Washington halls of learning. It is rumored that Miss Boone and other members of the coed track team who adopted the abbreviated garments are taking a rest from athletics for the remainder of the season.

Plans For Cotton Commission Made

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 4.—Plans for the organizations of the permanent government cotton producing states for the purpose of recommending legislation by the states, which will aid in solving problems now confronting the industry, were proposed here today at the second annual meeting of the Cotton Commission, composed of delegates named by the governors of twelve southern states.

Under the plan suggested by A. W. McLean, of North Carolina, which will be acted upon by the conference before adjournment Wednesday, a uniform act may be formulated for presentation to the legislatures of cotton producing states and which will provide for a permanent commission, the members of which will be named by the governor or legislature of each state.

The necessity of uniform state legislation which would enable the cotton producing sections of the country to work together in controlling and eradicating insect pests and the adoption of better methods of marketing and warehousing the staple, was strongly urged not only by government and state experts, but by a number of other speakers connected with various branches of the industry.

Tomorrow Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, will deliver the principal address, outlining the work which the department has done and is prepared to do for the cotton growers.

The act providing for a permanent commission, as proposed by McLean, should be its terms, he declared, confine the action of the commission "to matters of common interest and about which there shall be no conflict of interest," and should provide, he declared, that all actions of such commission should be recommendations only "unless and until the various states concerned shall, by legislative act, give affirmative sanction to the measures proposed by the commission and provide the means of making the same effective."

BANKER SHOT AND ROBBED

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 4.—Harry Aides, banker, was shot and wounded and robbed of a satchel containing $4,512 as he sat with his son and daughter and a girl employee in his automobile before the bank tonight. Two negroes, who opened fire without warning as Aides was preparing to drive down town to deposit the money, escaped into an alley and fled, passengers when they turned into Eddie Street.

An eyeglass case and a number of documents which Aides carried in his breast pocket stopped a 28 caliber bullet and probably saved his life.

Three suspects have been arrested.

HARPER MAKES MEMORIAL ADDRESS TO N. C. ELKS

HIGH POINT, Dec. 4.—Past Grand Exalted Ruler Fred Harper, of Lynchburg, Va., delivered the memorial address at the annual lodge of sorrow of High Point lodge of Elks here this afternoon. The address was declared to be one of the best ever heard at a memorial service held by the local Elks. He was introduced by Dr. Fred Peacock.

H. B. Hoskins, J. P. Hayworth, D. P. Draper and Dr. N. W. McCain, members of the High Point lodge who died during the past year, were eulogized by H. A. Mills, O. A. Kirkman, W. L. Stamey and Carter Dalton in the order named. The elaborate program also included music by the Elks band and vocal selections by Mrs. Charles Kephart and Clarence Schulteiss.

HARRY GREB IN HOSPITAL

PUTTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—Harry Greb, American light-heavy weight boxing champion, was undergoing treatment in a local hospital today.

The monarch's eyes, injured in a recent bout with Bob Roper were infested with a cold. His physician said there was no immediate danger of the sight being impaired.

Blinded by the "living screen" of caterpillars hanging by their suspension threads, a motorist recently lost control of his car and ran over a bank.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BASKET BALL LEAGUE GAMES

Calvary defeated Mt. Vernon in a game that was harder fought than the score of 21 to 10 indicates. At the end of the first half the score was a tie at 6 all, but beginning the second half Calvary started off with a rush and by some consistent shooting went out to the front with a good margin. Bowles for Mt. Vernon helped Calvary to two points by batting the ball accidentally into Calvary's goal. Hunter Lee was high scorer with foul field goals to his credit.

The line up:

Calvary Hunter Lee Turner

Herman Lee D. Ragland

Dudley Bowles

E. Lee C. Ragland

Berman and Turberville Browder

G. Field goals: Turner 1, D. Ragland 2, C. Ragland 2, Dudley 2, H. Lee 2, Hunter Lee 1, Bowles 1 for Calvary.

Foul goals: C. Ragland 0 out of 5, Dudley 3 out of 4, H. Lee 0 out of 3.

Referee, Heubi, Timer Cooke, Scorer, Johnny Ragland.

Sledd Memorial daffered Cabell St., by the score of 24 to 11, lack of practice on Cabell St., part showed plainly while Rustin for Sledd Memorial put a well drilled team on the floor; these boys are taking to basket ball with a vim and will make them all hustles before the season is over.

Benton and Wade for Cabell St., did good work as did Rustin, Taylor and Morgan for Sledd Memorial; the Sledd boys had a big bunch of fan rosters on hand to cheer them on and those boys simply couldn't lose.

The line up:

Cabell St. Martin Wade

Rustin F. Shelton

Ferguson C. Benton

Taylor W. McCubbin

Morgan E. McCubbin, Hall, Ikner

G. Field goals: Martin 1, Rustin 3, Ferguson 1, Taylor 3, Morgan 2, Benton 2, Wade 3.

Foul goals: Rustin 4 out of 8, Shelton 0 out of 6.

HOME LIFE IS NON EXISTENT

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 4.—There is "no" such thing as home life in Nashville, said Dr. Gus L. Diet, of Vanderbilt University before the Home Betterment Congress of the Southern and Cooperative League for Education and Social Work tonight.

Houses are occupied by a lot of people with a heathen philosophy of life, people who have wrongfully assumed that it is the man's place to support his wife. Why should "not" the wife do her share in maintaining the household? But in the city today the idea prevails that the wife and children are disgraced if they are permitted to do any sort of profitable work either at home or out of it."

ROTH TO COACH INDIANS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Frank Roth, coach of the New York American League Baseball Team, will coach the Cleveland Indians next season. Mr. Roth said tonight the arrangement was with the full agreement of the Yankee Managers. He had not heard who would succeed him as coach of the Yankees, he said.

MOVEMENT OF TEXAS
CATTLE IN MEXICO RESUMES
(BY JAMES R. RECORD)

FORT WORTH, Dec. 4.—After a year's interruption, the movement of Texas cattle into Mexico has been resumed on a heavy scale.

Shipments in the past week have been the heaviest of this season and were so large that inspectors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Race Association made special reports of them to the association. Over

3,000 head of cattle went through

El Paso alone. These shipments represent a big source of revenue to Texas stockmen.

Unemployment is growing slightly in this state, according to the employment bureaus throughout Texas.

The approach of cold weather which has lessened outdoor work, the flocking of workmen to the cities and the arrival of many from the North are assigned as the reason.

thirty days. Shipments today are 5 per cent of actual production with a corresponding increase in new orders.

JEWELRY

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 4.—Jewelry

Lusitania Manifest Published At Last

Dudley Field Malone Gives Out Paper Showing Her Cargo on Fatal Trip

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The World today prints the following:

After seven and one-half years of speculation and controversy as to its contents, the official report of the make-up of the cargo of the Lusitania is on her last voyage from New York was made public yesterday by Dudley Field Malone, who was Collector of the Port when the Cunarder sailed on May 1, 1915, and when, six days later, she was sunk by a German submarine off Kinsale Head, Ireland, with the loss of more than 1,000 lives, including over 100 Americans.

The report sets forth categorically:

That the Lusitania carried neither masked nor unmasked guns.

That she carried neither Canadian troops nor troops of any other nationality.

That she carried no explosives.

That she did carry 5,400 cases of ammunition, but that this was specifically permissible under rulings of the Department of Commerce in force since 1914.

The Malone report was made to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. It was dated June 4, 1915, and was called for after the German reply of May 23 to President Wilson's first Lusitania note (of May 13) had set up the con-

Becker Accuses Pit Murder Ally Of Other Deaths

Alleged Wife Slayer's Charge Against Norkin Results in New Activity of Prosecutor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Although most essential points in the Bronx "put murder" case yesterday appeared cleared up by the confession of Reuben Norkin, keeper of the automobile repair shop near which the body of Mrs. Jennie Becker was found, the authorities found themselves confronted with these questions:

What is there to the assertion of Abraham Becker, husband of the slain woman and a party in the crime, that Norkin "had killed other women and had hidden their bodies" long before it was decided to do likewise with Mrs. Becker?

What is there to the relation between Norkin and Miss Faunie Bloom, the weak-minded girl who went to work for Norkin's mother about seven years ago and vanished shortly afterward, never to be heard of again?

What was there in the past association of these men that prompted Becker to call upon Norkin when he wanted help in getting rid of his wife?

What induced Norkin to allow Becker to conceal the body within the feet of Norkin's shop?

An important piece of evidence was obtained against Norkin yesterday. For Mr. Cohn he drew a diagram of the lot, illustrating the crime. If Norkin should repudiate his confession this diagram would be extremely valuable to the prosecution.

Uniform Traffic Law Is Urged

BY DUDLEY SIDDALL
(Special to The Bee.)

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 5.—Uniform traffic laws for the United States and Canada—subject to minor local modifications—are one of the big necessities for checking the growing menace of the automobile accident toll.

This is the view of Deputy Inspector John W. O'Connor of the New York police department, who recently resigned as president of the International Traffic Officers' Association.

"The automobile has brought into practice interstate, intercity and even international touring," says O'Connor.

"As result of conflicting laws in nearly every state and city they visit, these tourists are often innocently involved in serious accidents.

They drive according to the regulations of their home state—and find out too late that these rules do not apply in other localities.

"Rules of the road, regulations on passing vehicles, street cars and similar general regulations could be standardized, and should be in the interests of safety."

O'Connor sees in education for both motorist and pedestrian in safety principles and practices as the first rule to be followed in any campaign to reduce accidents.

"Part of the solution of the traffic problem," he explains, "rests in concise, simple and just regulation; in publicity of these regulations and in strict enforcement of the law.

"The education of drivers and pedestrians is the first and most important step. If this principle is followed, the work of the police will be that of enforcers and assistants rather than enforcers."

"Once drivers and pedestrians know their rights, they will become their own regulators, as they will represent the infractions of the constantly diminishing proportion of people who try to override the rights of others."

Besides this advice O'Connor has formulated the following remedies for traffic control:

1.—Uniform traffic laws and display signs throughout the United States and Canada, subject to minor local modifications.

2.—Jail sentences for second offenders against speed and other safety regulations.

victory at Charlottesville over the University of Virginia brought great credit not only to the University but to the entire State as well, credit that is augmented by the fact of which North Carolinians can well afford to boast that every coach who training it to its remarkable state of efficiency are all native born Tar Heels. Sixteen States was represented in the Virginia squad.

Honor is deserved due to the Fetzer brothers and Dr. Lawson, who trained the team, to Captain Pritchard and all of his fellow-players and to the students and alumni, whose support inspired the team to a success for which it is necessary to go back a full forty years to find even a parallel.

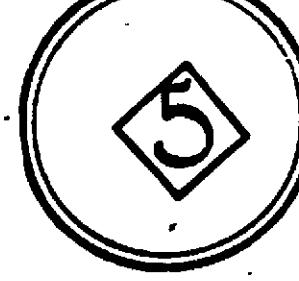

Thursday was truly a great day for North Carolina and the thousands of north Carolinians in Charlottesville seemed to take their victory in a truly commendable manner, a spirit which was matched by that of the defeated Virginians.

PASSENGER TRAIN DERAILED

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 4.—Passenger train number 13 on the Wabash road out of this city to St. Louis, was derailed at Shenandoah tonight. Several persons were slightly injured. All coaches remained upright. The cause of the accident is undetermined.

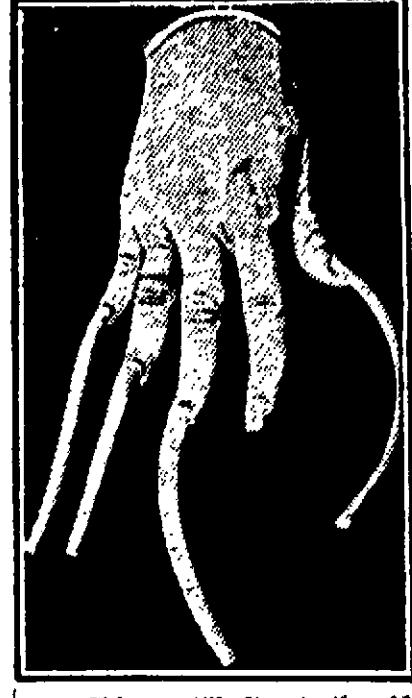

A PUZZLE A DAY

A clock strikes a certain hour. If one-half, one-third and one-fourth of the hour are added together, the result will be one more than the hour itself. What is the hour itself?

Yesterday's answer:
The figure 3 can be changed to a 5 without making an erasure, by simply adding a square about the 3 and an extra stroke of the pencil.

Animals at Peace During "Moon Call"

DELMAR, Md., Dec. 4.—Deep in the evergreen forests of the Northwest the trees are bowing gracefully with loads of freshly fallen snow. A death-like silence reigns in the woods. Among all wild life there is a rustling of suppressed excitement because at this season of the year a queer change of the lunar system is known as the "call of the moon" affecting every animal and bird.

At the sign of the "moon call" hunters declare the wolf pauses in his hunt. The lynx and wolverine, the marten, fisher and weasel note the "call of the moon" and for a time are apparently very friendly, often playing together in the tree tops.

Farther north the white-faced caribou and the moose have just passed the rutting season and the bulls are leaving their harem of cows. Moose, caribou deer and elk at this time of year have been observed mingling with the other in more or less affectionate manner.

The moon call has its strange effect even on the large birds of the Northwest, for the great horned and Arctic owls for a time cease their dusk and twilight quest of the snowshoe hare and the ptarmigan and bald eagles perch on the same hoar-frosted crag.

Just what phenomenon of nature causes this truce among the animals and birds is not known, but to trappers, Indians and well-informed hunters the fact remains. On about three weeks the moon changes into the last quarter and once more ferocious activity prevails. The wolves and coyotes resume warfare against the rabbits, and the owls seek the ptarmigan.

But just now over the wide expanse of the far northland, according to those versed in woodlore, the days of armistice are strangely alike to those of our own.

Crowds Throng Scene of Giant's Funeral

NEW YORK, November 4.—The biggest and best loved giant of American childhood was laid to rest yesterday when George Auger, circus performer, was buried at Woodlawn Cemetery at Woodlawn.

Littleton friends of Mr. Auger, many of whom were associated with him in circus life, attended the funeral at No. 164 Manhattan avenue. The midgets, Ernest Hommell and Addie Frank, who have played with the giant in a vaudeville sketch "Jack the Giant Killer," Carrie Holt, the fat lady of the circus; Lentini, the three-legged man; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Short, midgets; Louis Graham, Ringling side show manager; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warrell and William Conway of the circus organization, were among the mourners.

The eight and one-half foot coffin of mahogany was so large that it was necessary to lower it through the window to the street with a block and tackle. It was so long the doors of the casket had to be cut.

Over a thousand persons, mostly children, stood in the rain an hour while the funeral services were in progress. Capt. Auger's little bulldog, "Ringling," stood whining beside the coffin throughout the ceremony, which was conducted by Elks Lodge No. 1 Manhattan. The crowd became so great during the lowering of the casket from the window, that police reserves were necessary.

The grief of the midgets with whom the giant had been so long associated was touching to witness. Capt. Auger had been accustomed to carry them in his arms to the train when the circus was playing in rainy weather in small towns throughout the country. A sister, Mrs. James Prendergast of Pasadena, Calif., was present. Capt. Auger is survived by his wife, Mrs. Prendergast, and a brother and sister in England. His parents, who were of normal size, are both dead.

AIRPLANE USED BY THE REGULARS

CORK, Dec. 4.—(By The Associated Press.)—An airplane for the first time has been brought into action against the irregulars, with disastrous results to sixty of them, well entrenched in ambush near Drimoleague.

A call for reinforcements from National troops brought an airplane to the village of Signy, where the rebels had bombed them out. They endeavored to make their escape, some into a neighboring wood, but the airplane circled over them and raked the fleeing men with machine gun fire.
